Dense Fog Prevailed The passenger train was drawn by two heavy engines. The freight train was heading into the Missoula yards when the collision occurred. A flagman had been sent back to warn the passenger train, but owing to the dense fog which prevented the signals being seen, the engineers on the passenger train did not realize the danger until they were upon the engine which was pushing the freight.

Telescoped Engines.

As the three engines crashed together the engineers and firemen jumped from the windows. The impact shoved the heavy freight forward a distance of 10 yards, telescoping the tenders and cabe on the three locomotives. A refrigerator car in the passenger train was telescoped, but the coaches were only slightly damaged. The injuries of the passengers were caused by being thrown against seats and to the floors.

The wreck occurred in the yards, about two miles west of Missoula.

What Constitutionalists Want.

This is what the Democratic Constitutionalists desire. Until the people have spoken through a body elected by universal suffrage they will refuse all connection with bureaucracy. They have even declined to hold their convention at St. Petersburg upon Count Witte's invitation, considering it safer and wiser to meet at Moscow, where they are beyond the immediate influence of the Government, and they are confident that any universally elected body which meets to formulate the character of the new government will have a majority.

CARETAKER PAID

Albany House Maintained by Mutual Figures in Investigation.

Metropolitan President Confesses to Receiving Same Salary as McCall.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 .- The house in Alany, N. Y., which testimony before the insurance investigating committee has heretofore shown was for a number of years maintained by funds of the Mutual Life Insurance company, was again given some attention by Charles E. Hughes counsel for the committee, when Michael P. Mullaney, the caretaker of the house was called today as a witness.

Looked After the House.

Mr. Mulianey's testimony was in great part a corroboration of previous testi-mony that A. C. Fields, while employed as stationery agent of the Mutual also looked after legislative matters, and paid the rent for the Albany house.

Paid for "Legal Services."

Paid for "Legal Services."

Today a number of vouchers signed by Mullaney were identified by the witness, who acknowledged receiving the money for them. Some purported to be for legal zervices, some for sundries and some for traveling expenses. Witness said he was not a lawyer and could not explain why youchers were made out to that item.

J. M. Beck, counsel for the Mutual, however, took occasion to remind the counsel that all vouchers for the maintenance of this house, it had been testified, were charged to legal expenses. Mr. Hughes said that did not explain why some were for traveling expenses and some for sundries.

Couldn't Explain Items.

Mullaney could not tell what the sundries were unless they were supplies. He had taken trips to New York to see Mr. Fields at the latter's suggestion. He did not know how many times he had been to New York. He sometimes bought tickets for Mr. Fields. Nincteen vouchers were identified by Mullaney, for all of which he admitted he received the money, which aggregated $539. These were paid between March 7, 1890, and July 12, 1995. Mullaney said his salary was $25 a month. He had never carried any money to Albany from New York for Mr. Fields and had never paid out any money for Fields.

Barnes Is Excused.

The greater part of the day William Barnes, Sr., formerly of Albany, but now living at Nantucket, Mass., sat in the committee room walting to be called, but late in the afternoon he was excused for the day. Mr. Barnes figured in this investigation several weeks ago, when vouchers for legal services, bearing his signature, were produced, together with a letter signed by William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, reminding the Mutual Life that his father's "honorarium" had not been Albany, reminding the Mutual Life that his father's "honorarium" had not been received, and further asking that a check

DISREGARD THE ORDER New York Life Continues Business in

Missouri. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9 .- Notwithstanding State Superintendent of Insurance Van Diver last night officially suspended the certificate of authority of the New York Life Insurance company, under which it was licensed to transact business in Missouri, it was stated at the St. Louis offices of the insurance company in question that no attention was being paid to the order. The private secre-tary of Hamilton Cooke, inspector of agencies, who said that he was empowred to speak for Mr. Cooke, said to the Associated Press:

Associated Press:

"We are doing business at the old stand. We are soliciting insurance just as energetically as we ever did, and we are going to continue to do so."

HONOLULU, Nov. 2 - Local merchants who have been trying to charter a steamer and establish an independent line to run between this port and San Francisco in order to secure lower fares and freight rates, have started a movement to raise funds for the building of a large ocean steamer. It is reported that over a million dollars have already been subscribed.

WANTS TAKAHIRA TO BE FIRST EMBASSADOR

Roosevelt Is Anxious to Have Legations at Tokio and Washington Raised.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.-Mr. Takahira, the Japanese Minister here, had a long talk today with Secretary Root respecting the business of his mission, which the Minister is putting in shape preparatory to departing for Japan on an extended leave of absence. While he is in Tokio the Minister will discuss with the Foreign Office officials the expediency of raising the Japanese mission here to the rank of an embassy. Roosevelt Favors It.

President Roosevelt would be glad to see this done, and he is particularly desirous that Mr. Takahira, for whom he has conceived the highest esteem, should have the honor of being the first Japanese Embassador to America. But the President cannot initiate this movement because the existing statues provide that he may erect the American legation at Tokto into an embassy only after he has been advised that the Japanese Government has taken such action in the case of its own diplomatic representation in Washington.

Diet Must Consent.

To carry this into effect the Diet of Japan must first give its assent to the change, and that is the matter which Mr. Takahira will take up with the Foreign Office officials when he reaches Japan. The Diet does not convene until December, so that the change in the grade of the diplomatic posts at Washington and Tokio, if it is made at all, probably cannot be made until early next year.

Griscom May Not Beturn

Griscom May Not Return. It is impossible at present to state whether or not Lioyd Griscom, the present American Minister at Tokio, will become the first Embassador there Mr. Griscom, according to cable dispatches, said farewell today to the Emperor of Japan, and it is not certain that he will return to Tokio. He has been granted a leave of absence.
